Natural Resources: Renewable Energy

January 1, 2024

By: Taylor M. Stuart, Joshua Robichaud and Catherine P. McCarthy

Bracewell's Taylor Stuart, Joshua Robichaud and Catherine McCarthy recently contributed a chapter on renewable energy for the American Bar Association's Recent Developments in Infrastructure and Regulated Industries 2023. This chapter provides a high-level summary of notable developments in the US renewable energy sector, including generator interconnection reform and the status of offshore wind rulemakings, litigation and advancements in transmission planning.

Published annually, Recent Developments is a comprehensive review of developments in areas represented by the section's committees.
