

Biden: Five Ways He Will Reverse Trump on the Environment

Media Mentions

January 19, 2021 | The Mercury News | 1 minute read | Washington, DC

Bracewell Policy Resolution Group Senior Principal Frank Maisano explained to The Mercury News that the incoming Biden administration will shift direction in a major way on environmental policies from what Americans saw the last four years, but to what extent will be the question.

“There’s going to be an immense difference in personality and personnel, and in the image they project,” said Maisano. “The Biden administration is going to propose a lot of stuff, but I don’t think they will be able to do as much as progressives want. This is a pretty close Senate and a pretty close House.”

Click here to read more from The Mercury News.

Related People

Frank V. Maisano
Senior Principal
WASHINGTON, DC
+1.202.828.5864
frank.maisano@bracewell.com

Related Industries

Energy
Infrastructure

Related Practices

Government Relations
Strategic Communications