Michelle Boudreaux recently discussed with Law360 Pulse what drew her to Bracewell and called joining the firm an “exciting step.”

“What really drew me to the firm is the ‘One Bracewell’ approach,” Boudreaux said.

“Collaboration and delivering smart, efficient legal solutions for clients is key at Bracewell,” added Boudreaux. “There’s so much incredible depth of knowledge and talent here, including lawyers with significant experience before FERC. Having depth on ‘the bench’ benefits my clients and practice. The collaborative environment at Bracewell encourages us to brainstorm together, making our solutions even stronger. This is particularly important as my clients’ needs increasingly are becoming more complex.”
