HOUSTON – Bracewell LLP has been named a finalist for two awards at the 2023 Chambers USA Awards: “Energy & Projects Law Firm of the Year” and “Environment Law Firm of the Year.” The awards recognize a law firm’s pre-eminence in the region, as well as outstanding work, impressive strategic growth and excellence in client service over the past 12 months. Winners will be announced on June 15.

Bracewell is in the vanguard of issues and developments in the energy sector, advising energy companies, investors and other stakeholders around the world on business transactions, financings and regulatory matters across the energy spectrum, including oil and gas, conventional power and renewables. The firm also supports a wide range of stakeholders on energy transition projects, including carbon capture, solar and offshore wind development projects.

Bracewell’s environment, lands and resources group has decades of experience working at the forefront of issues facing companies in the oil and gas, refining, power generation and transmission, chemical, manufacturing, technology, mining and construction sectors. The team combines legal and policy depth with knowledge in media relations and lobbying, resulting in a comprehensive and holistic approach in advising companies facing challenges that arise simultaneously in litigation, legislative debates, agency actions and public discourse.
