

Breaking Down Joe Biden's Plan to Make the US Carbon Neutral

Media Mentions

October 26, 2020 | NPR | 1 minute read | Washington, DC

Bracewell's Scott Segal joined NPR to discuss how realistic Joe Biden's plan is to make America carbon neutral by 2050 and still make room for some fossil fuels.

"One thing that makes Biden's approach somewhat comfortable is that you can sketch out that linear commitment to additional resources to achieve these objectives, which I think most people in business believe are going to be the future anyway," said Segal.

Click here to listen.

Related People

Scott H. Segal
Partner
WASHINGTON, DC
+1.202.828.5845
scott.segal@bracewell.com

Related Industries

Energy
Infrastructure

Related Practices

Government Relations
Infrastructure Development
Oil & Gas
Power
Renewable Energy