

The Dotted Line: When Should Contractors Use COVID-19 Liability Waivers?

Media Mentions

August 25, 2020 | Construction Dive | 1 minute read | Houston

---

Bracewell's Richard Whiteley recently spoke with Construction Dive reporter Kim Slowey on COVID-19 liability waiver use as part of "The Dotted Line" series, which takes an in-depth look at the complex legal landscape of the construction industry.

"They [liability waivers] will all be changed by this worldwide pandemic," Whiteley said. "There will be ... indemnities and waivers and limitations based on infections and all of that. So, this has changed contracts into the future forever."

Click here to read more from *Construction Dive*.

Related People

Richard F. Whiteley

Partner

HOUSTON

+1.713.221.1123

richard.whiteley@bracewell.com

Related Industries

Energy

Infrastructure

Real Estate

Related Practices

Infrastructure Development

Litigation