

Kamala Harris Was ‘Confident, Principled – Presidential’: The Best and Worst Moments From Night Four of the Democratic Convention

Media Mentions

August 23, 2024 | The New York Times | 1 minute read | Washington, DC

Highlighted by Vice President Kamala Harris accepting the Democratic nomination, Bracewell’s Liam Donovan and The New York Times’ opinion writers recap the final night of the Democratic National Convention.

Best Moment

Donovan: Gabby Giffords was the feel-good story of the night – just a remarkable recovery and delightful return to form.

Worst Moment

Donovan: No obvious blunders beyond the anticlimax after a much-hyped surprise guest never materialized, although Mark Kelly’s rather dull speech made a great retroactive case for Tim Walz.

What Else Caught Your Eye

Donovan: A vibes speech for a vibes election, but Harris continues to exceed modest expectations and avoid the Republican-painted caricature. Nothing flashy, but a well-delivered address that touched all the bases while explicitly appealing to the political center.

Related People

Liam P. Donovan
Senior Political Strategist
WASHINGTON, DC
+1.202.828.5847
liam.donovan@bracewell.com

Related Practices

Government Relations
Strategic Communications