

Midlevel Associates Are Being Reassigned to Feed the Bankruptcy Beast

Media Mentions

June 29, 2020 | The American Lawyer | 1 minute read | Houston | New York

Bracewell's Mark Wulfe was recently featured by reporter Brenda Sapino Jeffreys as part of "The New View," a special report from The American Lawyer on how the coronavirus crisis is changing the way work gets done across the legal industry.

At every level within law firms, the pandemic has reshaped the way work is done, and will surely influence the industry into the future. In this special report, The American Lawyer explores how work has changed for individuals in key roles—including midlevel associate—and what it will mean going forward.

For Mark, the COVID-19 crisis has led to substantial changes in his practice and his life—all of his own choosing.

Click here to read his story.

Related People

Mark Wulfe

Senior Counsel

NEW YORK

+1.212.508.6170

mark.wulfe@bracewell.com

Daniel S. Connolly

Managing Partner – New York

NEW YORK

+1.212.508.6104

daniel.connolly@bracewell.com

Related Industries

Energy

Finance

Related Practices

Financial Restructuring

Litigation