

Trump's Energy Agenda in the Next Administration: A Closer Look

Media Mentions

November 29, 2024 | Washington Examiner | 1 minute read | Washington, DC

With large-load facilities such as data centers using massive amounts of energy, AI has moved to the forefront of the energy demand boom in recent years.

"On the energy side, [AI] plays in a big way," Bracewell's Frank Maisano told the Washington Examiner. "This is a huge priority, this is a huge challenge. This affects everybody from consumers and businesses all the way up to the grid operators who manage the reliability, to the utilities who provide the power."

Related People

Frank V. Maisano
Senior Principal
WASHINGTON, DC
+1.202.828.5864
frank.maisano@bracewell.com

Related Industries

Energy
Technology

Related Practices

Government Relations
Strategic Communications