

What Trump's Election Win Means for FERC, Utilities and the Grid

Media Mentions

November 06, 2024 | PowerGrid International | 1 minute read | Washington, DC

On the campaign trail, President-elect Donald Trump railed against clean energy policies enacted under the Biden-Harris administration. This has made it tricky to nail down a definitive energy policy direction for the Trump-Vance administration.

PowerGrid International quoted Bracewell's Liam Donovan from the PRG Pulse 2024 Post-Election Webinar that there could be a "revenge tour," and not just by Trump, but also by those around him. "What's their agenda, and what do they intend to do?" he added.

Related People

Liam P. Donovan
Senior Political Strategist
WASHINGTON, DC
+1.202.828.5847
liam.donovan@bracewell.com

Related Industries

Energy

Related Practices

Government Relations
Strategic Communications