

Matthew J. Reasoner

Associate

matthew.reasoner@bracewell.com

HOUSTON

+1.713.221.1476

Matthew Reasoner focuses his practice on complex commercial litigation and appeals. He has first-chair trial experience, including directing and cross-examining witnesses and giving closing argument in federal court. He represents a broad range of clients and has worked on complex litigation matters in the energy, software, construction and consumer products industries.

Matthew also has a diverse pro-bono practice. He serves as the Co-Chair of the Houston Bar Association LegalLines Committee and volunteers at the HBA Veteran's Clinic. He has also represented asylum seekers in immigration court and has argued a pro-bono jury trial.

During law school, he served as a section representative for Texas Journal of Oil, Gas and Energy Law Society and as a staff editor for Texas Review of Entertainment & Sports Law.

Practices

Litigation

Credentials

Education

- The University of Texas School of Law, J.D., 2021
- The University of Texas at Austin, B.A., 2017

Bar Admissions

- Texas

BRACEWELL

Dean's Achievement Award for Texas Energy Law

University of Texas School of Law

- Business Law Society

Texas Journal of Oil, Gas and Energy Law Society

- Section Representative

Texas Review of Entertainment & Sports Law

- Staff Editor

Office of Texas State Senator John Whitmire

- Legislative Intern

Resources

Improper Jury Argument: Texas Courts' Recent Focus on Unsubstantiated Anchoring

Update