

INSIGHTS

Why Should I Care About the Federal Review Process as Long as I get my Permit?

December 10, 2019

By: Ann D. Navaro and Sara M. Burgin

In this webinar, we discussed why it is critical to actively participate in and influence the review process leading up to a federal permit decision. Getting a permit quickly may not be sufficient if the agency has made basic mistakes that lead to loss of that permit in subsequent litigation challenging the federal process. We explained practical ways to stay involved with the federal process and how private development can be stymied by federal litigation.