

Environmental Justice Under the Biden Administration

Video

February 09, 2021 | 1 minute read

On January 27th, President Biden formalized multiple campaign pledges to bolster the role of Environmental Justice across the government. Those include creating a White House Environmental Justice Interagency Council and a White House Environmental Justice Advisory Council to address “current and historical environmental injustices,” and a “Justice40 Initiative” meant to ensure that 40 percent of the overall benefits of relevant federal investments go to disadvantaged communities. Further, the order will boost EJ enforcement “through new or strengthened offices” at EPA, the Justice Department and the Department of Health and Human Services. To measure progress, President Biden’s Executive Order also creates a Climate and Environmental Justice Screening Tool, building off EPA’s EJSCREEN tool to collect and provide the data to support these mandates.

Bracewell’s Environmental Essentials next webinar will outline President Biden’s Executive Order, discuss the approaches EPA may take to advance EJ initiatives, highlight programs and tools the Biden EPA’s Office of Environmental Justice may deploy in furtherance of EJ, and offer insights on whether and how these efforts are likely to have meaningful impacts.

Related People

Anna B. Karakitsos

Senior Government Affairs
Advisor

WASHINGTON, DC

+1.202.828.1728

anna.karakitsos@bracewell.com

Jason B. Hutt

Partner

WASHINGTON, DC

+1.202.828.5850

jason.hutt@bracewell.com

Whit Swift

Partner

AUSTIN

+1.512.494.3658

whit.swift@bracewell.com

Related Industries

Energy

Related Practices

[Environmental, Social &
Governance \(ESG\)](#)

Environment, Lands and Resources

Environmental Permitting & Regulation

