

Raising the Next Generation of Engaged Citizens With Dr. Lindsey Cormack

Podcast | The Lobby Shop

December 11, 2020 | 1 minute read

Today we're joined by Dr. Lindsey Cormack, assistant professor of political and social sciences at Stevens Institute of Technology. We discuss her work with DC Inbox, a project analyzing all newsletters sent by members of Congress, and the book she published on a major element of that data, congress and US veterans: From the GI Bill to the VA Crisis. Additionally, we talk in depth about her new project, a book she's working on about raising children who are civically savvy and engaged by the time they are old enough to participate in politics.
